INEW CANCER STUDY OUTLINED TO DOCTORS

Natural Juices of Body May Be Cause of Dread Growth.

BALTIMORE, March 23.—(A)—Discovery of a possible new avenue for the study of cancer of the stomach was announced before the American College of Physicians here today. Dr. Lay Martin of Johns Hopkins University said he had found four previously undiscovered chemical constituents in gastric juice of humans. They are ammonia, aminoacid, urea and uric acid. In cases of cancer of the stomach the proportion of these elements in gastric juice shows a marked increase.

It is not yet known whether the increase is typical of cancer of the stomach. There is a possibility the proportion varies with different disceases and may be an aid to diagnosis, he said. BALTIMORE, March 23 .- (AP)-

The former rates in the Waco "F" which now will be used in charter work and $25.

The plane, which was acquired by the Candler field operators from American Airways, Inc., was flown here from Tennessee's Sky Harbor, Murfreesboro, by E. W. Hightower, Blevins pilot, and will go into service this morning. Student instruction rates at Candler field now are at a lower level than they have ever been before, Curtiss-Wright Flying Service, a week or so ago, having purchased less expensive equipment, making possible a substantial reduction in costs.

Steadily increasing interest being taken in aviation by Atlanta women is one of the most wholesome and most encouraging features of the industry's development here. With several "soloists" building up their time toward department of commerce licenses, quite a few others are making good progress as students. Mrs. C. O. Barrett has had some two hours of instruction at the Blevins Aircraft Corporation and is rapidly getting the hang of the thing, while Miss Martha Candler, who has taken a good deal of time in a Waco "F" and her own Lycoming Stinson, is somewhat farther along. Mrs. A. R. Seaman, another Blevins student, soloed about three weeks ago. Mrs. Ruth Mohr, second Atlanta woman to fly by herself, having soloed about a year and a half ago, has had to drop out of active flying for a while, because of the pressure of business, but Mrs. Floyd NASHVILLE BANK ROBBED OF $8,223 ROBBED OF $8,223

Men Brought Here From Over State Fill Gaps Caused by Strike.

The Georgia Power Company placed relief crews at work to fill the vacancies in the ranks of electrical workers who last week walked out in protest of what was termed "company policies." STUDEBAKER PRESIDENT WINS national economy championship!

> Free Wheeling President Eight sets new A.A.A. record for gasoline economy in famous Pacific Coast contest. Free Wheeling Studebaker Six wins second honors.

ANOTHER triumph for Free Wheeling ... only two Free Wheeling Studebakers were entered in the third annual Gilmore-Wrightwood economy run-and they won first and second place . . . in competition with 40 other cars of 20 makes from the very cheapest to the most costly.

While this run proved officially only the economy of Free Wheeling, it demonstrated conclusively the simplicity of Free Wheeling as well, since all drivers were women.

Mrs. William Hurter, in a Free Wheeling President carrying five passengers, took first place with an American Automobile Association record of 46.71 ton miles per gallon of gasoline. Her car averaged better than 171/2 speedometer miles per gallon over the 200 mile route which extended continuously upward from sea level to 6000 feet elevation.

Mrs. Jeanne Frost, in a Free Wheeling Studebaker Six, won second honors. Her car averaged over 231/2 speedometer miles per gallon of gasoline but, because of its lighter weight, its ton mile average was 44.94. The Studebaker Six used less gasoline than any other sedan on the run. Neither car required the addition of oil

Free Wheeling not only saves gasoline and oil but chassis wear and repairs. It makes momentum take the place of gasoline—it gives you 10 speedometer miles for 8 engine miles.

With Free Wheeling, you shift back and forth between high and second at any speed without touching the clutch. You get 'he greatest driving thrill and driving safety in motoring. MAX. PRINCE VON BADEN, Imperial Chancellor.

The president's reply was not satisfactory to the German government and the exchange of notes continued during the month, until finally the Germans accepted the very frank statement by the president conveyed in a state department message October 23, that "the nations of the world do not and cannot trust the word of those who have hitherto been the masters of German policy," and that "the govern-ment of the United States cannot deal with any but veritable representatives of the German people, who have been assured of a genuine constitutional standing as the real rulers of Germany.

"If it must deal with the military masters and the monarchial autocrats of Germany maw, or if it is likely to have to deal with them later in regard to the international obligations of the German empire, it must demand, not peace negotiations, but surrender."

Meanwhile, with these peace negotiations in progress, and with our own and Allied offensives continuing to produce favorable results, it became more and more evident the time soon must come when we should have to nust come when we should have to consider terms and conditions under which hostilities might cease. The dis-cussion of armistice te ms in a general way by the Allies had in fact begun.

In a conversation I had with Marshal Foch October 13 he spoke of the notes exchanged between the Germans and President Wilson, and expressed some apprehension about how far the president might commit the Allies. He president might commit the Allies. He said he hoped the president would not become involved in a long correspondence and allow himself to be duped by the Germans, and added that so far Mr. Wilson had not consulted the Allies.

I replied that he need have no fear on that score, as of course Mr. Wilson would not act alone. In this discussion I gained the impression that Foch fa-vored demanding the surrender of the British Views of Armistice. At my request Colonel Lloyd Gris-com cabled me the views of Lord Mil-ner and General Sir Henry Wilson, for the British. Briefly, Lord Milner said that he occupied a middle posi-tion between those demanding uncon-ditional surrender and those who ditional surrender and those who wanted peace immediately on the best terms possible. He thought an armistice condition that Germany lay down her heavy guns and give some naval guarantee such as the possession of Heligoland. General Wilson doubted whether it would be possible to inflict a crushing victory before winter, as the British army was very tired and the French more so, and the Americans not yet prepared to use their great force, but he thought armistice conditions should make it impossible for tions should make it impossible for

where they were than on their own frontiers with a much shortened line. He said the Germans should be required to abandon their heavy guns and retire to the east bank of the Rhine, and in addition to the surrender of Heligoland should also give up some warships and submarines.

This British leader voiced the extreme army viewpoint, but the more conservative element in government circles advised against pushing Germany too far for fear of having no government there strong enough to make peace. They feared widespread revolutions in Germany might unsettle allied countries and imperil constitutional monarchies. These hints gave the general attitude of the British as it was expressed later, when time came to dictate terms.

We were also in need of balloons and their personnel, none having arrived from home since July. PATTERSON, CRACKER PITCHER, JUMPS CLUB IN TRAI

Spring football is not yet finished at Georgia Tech-that is, for the backfield brigade.

Coach Bobby Dodd has gone home for a couple of weeks to see his folks, but he is coming back to hold a dozen and one secrets of how to lug the ball that Dodd picked up in four years at the University of Tennessee.

about the higher hustling, he will have done well in his first spring at The Flats.

EX-BULLDOG CURVES 'EM.

James Carithers, of Athens, Ga., who chunked them for the Bulldogs in 1929, made a convincing bow as a Cracker southpaw in the game against Reading yesterday.

"Lefty" was using his old college curve that starts high and finishes with a wide downward sweep. He had most of the Reading hitters looking bad or pushing puny singles over the infield.

"Lefty" worked on Wilbur Davis, the mighty slugger, to a

'Key, kid, what's the idea of reporting to training camp in condition," Wilbur called as one of those college curve balls, tamed and under perfect control, broke down the seam of his bloomers. "I'll bet you've been pitching all winter."

HIS CAMPUS FAREWELL.

Carithers pitched in a memorable ball game in Athens in the next to the last battle of the 1929 series between Tech and Georgia. "Lefty" began curving them at the Yellow Jackets and fanned 14 of them in the first seven frames.

But his arm gave down, as well it might under such treatment, and the Jackets won the game, 9 to 5, or something like that.

Now Carithers has a fast ball to mix with his curve, a pretty good one. Above all he THINKS he is good enough to pitch to any hitter in the world, which is 25 per cent of the battle.

ANOTHER COLLEGIAN LOOKS GOOD.

Lowell Douglas, the right-hander from Baylor University, preceded Carithers on the hill and looked like the goods. He has a wide assortment of stuff and knows what to do with it.

"Gee, these boys come into baseball knowing something," Rube Marquard ejaculated as Douglas kept pitching the right ball to Reading hitters and mixing them

Since the rules permit carrying two extra Class B players for one month after the season opens, it is possible that one or both these college men who worked yesterday will be on the payroll opening day.

"SMACK" COMES HOME.

Ralph Sanford Thompson is back in town-and to stay. In case that proper cognomen means nothing, "Smack" Thompson

The hard-muscled, hard-headed young giant who carried the football for Georgia and was captain of the Bulldog eleven in 1925, has come back to the old home roost after three years of adventuring.

Smack has wandered half way around the world. He has been in the lumber camps of the north, the oil fields of Texas and the banana groves of South America. He had just so much "drive" that he had to get rid of. Now he is with the Copley establishment on Peachtree street, and is looking fine.

TRY THIS AT HOME.

Apparently the diatribe in this corner against the weather Saturday and Sunday was taken seriously. Else, how did spring happen to come back so promptly? Always speak your mind. Do not be afraid to raise Cain. Most of the time it does no good whatever, but now and then rough talk gets results.

WASHINGTON. March 23.—(P)—Big league baseball is one thriving industry that has chosen to ignore the well-known business depression and go right on giving its customers a better, or, at least, more expensive product. If there is any fear that the scarcity of ready cash might be felt at the turnstiles, it is not discernible in conversation with the owners of major league clubs or their employes. In the training camps, from California through the south to Flòrida, they are breathing a fine optimism and preparing to pack 'em in when the curtain rises next month.

Others queried on the subject said virtually the same. They all are too busy girding for the race to worry about the firmness of baseball's tinancial structure. That, they reason, will take care of itself.

At least one club, Brooklyn, is worrying more about how to provide for its clients this summer than in how to get them out to the ball field. The Robins have visions of a National league pennant, and their Ebbets field, with its 28 000 senting capacity, would with its 28,000 seating capacity, would be a poor place to try to conduct a world series.

Sarazen's Rush.

Sarazen's Rush.

CENE SARAZEN, Mac Smith's of successor at Lakeville, gave the other pros something to think about in the recent $15,000 La Gorce open. Starting the final round, he was three strokes back of Tommy Armour, the P. G. A. champion. Sarazen had just taken a 77 in his third round, which seemed to be a killing break. His first 9 holes on the final round proved the caliber of his game. He picked up 6 strokes on the brilliant Armour in 9 holes, traveling at an uncanny pace. That 9-hole dash in 32 did the trick. No one could catch him after that flying start.

This victory makes Sarazen one of the favored entries in the next United States open, where he will have plenty of backing. It has been nine years since he won at Skokie by leading Bobby Jones and John Black by a stroke, but he has been threatening more and more in the last year or so, and now has all his old confidence back.

Sarazen is built much along the Bobby Jones line. He is strong and stocky and can stand up under the grind.

The next two tests at Pinehurst and Augusta in the north and south, and then the southeastern opens will be worth following as the big field hits the stretch on the way home, closing out the annual spring campaign.

The recent sparring match be-tween two of our best known writers may soon forecast a writ-ers' rush to various gymnasiums to get in shape for some impend-ing assault or some counter-at-tack. The writer who can't lead with his left or counter with his right may soon be in no condition to punch a typewriter.

In addition to the Artists and Writers' Golf Association we will soon have the Artists and Writers' Boxing back to the first principles of old bare knuckle days.

Judging from the recent trend of affairs our fighters are turning into writers and our writers are turning into into fighters. Civilization is getting to be more and more complicated every day.

His Big Chance.

IF TOMMY LOUGHRAN can out stab Tuffy Griffiths he will then be face to face with the choice of two big programs—Mickey Walker or Jack Sharkey. The Tuffy affair will be Loughran's highest hurdle in the comeback campaign, which has lifted him well out of the rut. Loughran is one of the few heavyweights fighting often enough to sharpen up his repertory. And that happens to be a system that Harry Greb always used to extremely useful effect. Ability of Veteran Stars, Signing of Simmons Worry Mack.

By Alan Gould.

FORT MYERJ, Fla., March 23.—
(P)—The development of the Philadelphia Athletics in their spring training camp has left something to be desired, to judge from performances, even though nothing has occurred se-rious enough to dislodge the world's champions as favorites in the forthoming pennant race.

Although there is no pay-off-on the results of exhibition games, the defeat of the A's in three out of four games with their world's series rivals, the St. Louis Cardinals, did not prove enjoyable to Connie Mack and his associates.

With the start of the season only about three weeks off, Mack's principal concerns are these: (1) The ability of the club's vet-eran infield to withstand the wear and tear of another full campaign effectively. (2) The ability of Grove and Earnshaw again to shoulder the pitching burden to the extent of winning 50 games between them, besides saving a flock of others.

(3) The annual task of signing Al Simpore, the alabi

Simmons, the club's premier punch, complicated by reports that the fa-nous outfielder intends to demand a

Only the season itself will furnish

In seeking support for the twin hurling aces, the A's have uncovered two unusually promising recruits in Hank McDonald, the California boy, and Lew Krausse, an 18-year-old product of Philadelphia suburban dia-

Coroner J. D. Russum expressed the belief that the man was struck in the head and then thrown out of the window. He stated that he found a number of empty bottles and a water pitcher, along with broken glass and blood stains on the bed.

At once you are greeted with the delightful aroma that comes from choicest Turkish and mellowest Domestic tobaccos in prime condition.

Your sense of touch also detects the freshness of Camels, for unlike moisture-robbed cigarettes Camels are pliable to the fingers.

Cigarettes brought to you so perfectly conditioned deserve to be kept that way in your pocket.

The simplest way to insure this is to open the Camel Humidor Pack as shown above.

We Try, the Weakest of Us, to Live Up to the Faith Our Loved Ones Have in Us. When Single Blessedness Is Satisfactory, Don't Give It Up.

EAR MISS CHATFIELD

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

I have a sixteen-year-old girl who is causing me some worry. She is very headstrong, goes where she pleases, and with whom she pleases. I have talked to her, her mother has talked to her, but it does no good. Sometimes she seems very repentant. She goes off as though she were going to a neighbor's house and stays for three or four days. Oftentimes we do not know where she is. I have urged her to associate with the right sort of people but she insists on spending her time with boys and girls whom her parents do not approve. I have about decided to give up the struggle and take chance on the outcome. What should I do?

ANSWER:

Sometimes a parent's love is blind and cannot see what the community is quick to see: signs of mental or moral deficiency. If such is the case

ANSWER:

Sometimes a parent's love is blind and cannot see what the community is quick to see: signs of mental or moral deficiency. If such is the case with your daughter you should have some expert help in dealing with her before she has ruined help in dealing with her before she has ruined the whole life and disgraced her family. There are expert social workers and students who can tell you if this is the case with your daughter. Write to the social welfare department of your state at your state capital and ask them to send you literature on the subject. You may read what is printed and possibly get some light on the trouble. If you are convinced that there is something abnormal in your daughter's make-up then you can proceed to make plans to put her in some institution that will deal with her kind of a case.

This may sound drastic but it is not necessarily so. The facts are that you and her mother cannot control her. She is at the age when something dreadful may happen to her and if she insists on associating with improper young people the chances are, ten to one, that something will happen. No parent can sit by and see a child spoiling her opportunity for future happiness without agonizing over it. But agonizing does no good unless it is accompanied by action

Try to be patient and sympathetic with her. The critical attitude toward her faults and foibles will drive her further, and faster away from you. Often the most headstrong require the gentlest treatment, though their conduct doesn't invite it.

This is the day of the expert and the social expert is doing a great service to the state. No doubt there is some sympathetic social worker in, or near, your community who can give you helpful advice about your problem. The old method of praying over the wayward is all well and good but it must be accompanied by some practical measures to get at the root of the waywardness and to give some paliative or remedy for the cause of it.

Don't give up the struggle. It is your duty to see the matter through. A sixteen-year-old girl who feels that her parents have despaired of her has no check whatever. Pretend to some faith in her, even if it must be only a pretense. We try, the weakest of us, to live up to the faith our loved ones have in us. We cannot tell a lie to the friend who believes us to be truthful. We cannot be stingy with the friend who thinks us generous. We cannot be altogether unmindful of those who show us their love Don't you see that it would be fatal for you to give up the struggle?

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

About two years ago I was married to a man whom I loved and whom I thought loved me. However, after a few months I discovered that he was not what he ought to be. He was so outrageous in his conduct that I could stand it no longer and I got a divorce. I have now met another man like myself, divorced. We are in love with each other and we are thinking of marriage. He has an adorable little child. Do you think it would be wise to marry him or remain in the blessed state of single life? PERPLEXED.

ANSWER:

The last sentence of your letter doesn't sound very encouraging to an outsider. When a woman is regarding "the blessed state of single life" as something to be grudgingly relinquished she is not exactly in a promising position for a second marriage. Possibly the bitter experience of the first marriage has colored your mind as to make you regard the whole marriage problem as a gamble. It is, unless both parties are to bring to it the firm conviction that they cannot live without each other. A glowing warmth is not enough. A desire to pathoup a broken life is not enough. A physical attraction is not enough. Love is the only thing that can see the end from the beginning and love must be tenderly guarded or it loses its perspective.

Don't marry a man who has a little child unless you are definitely you can do your duty by the little one. If your marriage must cost the little one its right to happiness it will never justify itself to you, to the husband, or to the world.

HIGHLIGHTS OF WALL STREET

By CHARLES W. STORM, Editor, the News Service of Wall Street.

NEW YORK, March 23.—(NANA)
The stock market displayed underlying strength today, despite a break in wheat which reached the lowest price since 1895 and a drop of $1 a bale in cotton as a result of the farm board's announcement that it would discontinue its stabilizing measures of both commodities after May.

The June wheat option at Chicago dropped over 12 cents a bushel at one time, but this sharp decline was attributed to technical market causes.

The farm board's warning to farm
The farm board's warning to farm-trading dwindled. The day's transfers of 472,800 shares were 161,500 less than Friday's.

The farm board's warning to farmers to cut down planting by 20 per cent also added to the unsettlement, but the break in commodities had little break in commodities had little effect on the stock market sentiment. Ability of the market to ignore unfavorable news, as it did today, and respond to favorable developments, is winning many friends to the bull side. The "house on the corner," which is 1210, bettering last week's new high by 6 points, then slipping back to 204. Soft spots among the industrials were Ford, Ltd., Anglo-Chilean Nitrate, Mead Johnson and Driver Harris, off a point or so. Industrial trusts were mixed.

Cotton Letters.

NEW YORK, March 23.—Announcement of farm beard that it would not attempt stabilizing operations in wheat this year and break in wheat started a selling movement in cotton during early trading due to expectation of a similar announcement from board as to cotton. The selling increased considerably after news agencies issued bulletins saying farm board had announced it would not attempt stabilizing operations in cotton this year.

As a result prices dropped about $1 a bale.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Open High Low Close Close

BY JOHN BOUGHAN. CHICAGO. March 23.—(P)—Confronted by official announcement that United States government-sponsored efforts to stabilize grain prices would not be extended to 1931 crops, June wheat collapsed 11 1-2 cents here today.

The spectacular drop was associated with flugried attempts to adjust the Chicago market to a world competitive export basis, especially a level low enough to rival Canadian wheat as shown by reduced quotations at Winniveg. Uncertainty as to how existing huge wheat holdings of federal farm board allies would be disposed of added to trade nervousness, and the Chicago market plunged down to below any level since 1895, when July wheat sold at 50 1-2 cents a bushel, the lowest point touched since dealings in monthly future delivery contracts were first started.

Distinctly American Note Sounded

Vachel Lindsay, of Springfield, Ill., is probably the most picturesque, the most disconcerting and the most articulate American on the lecture platform today. There was something engaging and yet, at the same time, faintly alarming about the smile with which he greeted his audience Monday night in the Atlanta Woman's Club auditorium, when he was introduced under the auspices of the Emory lecture board. It was the smile of a very jubilant. a very astute and a somewhat malicious gargoyle, and the instant it appeared there was no question of one's having to deal with anything less formidable than a poet.

For a poet, in the most wildly romantic sense of the word, he is; a poet whose brain is full of disorderly and strangely compelling music, and a poet, in spite of everything, who is distinctly and purely American. As American as the Rocky Mountains, or the Great Lakes, or the Pittsburgh iron foundries. As American as Babbitt himself, whom he execrates, though, to be sure. Lindsay's Americanism is scarcely the brand which has been so much in vogue among the national legiens of Philistia.

The American note was sounded in the very beginning of his program,

There MUST be something to this "office wife" talk!

Sir Richard carried his shield and lance, the sun glancing on the metal of his hauberk and a smile upon his brave face as he chatted with his erstwhile prisoner. Blake decided that he liked this martial man with his childlike simplicity, very much. On foot Michel, at a respectful distance, followed the prancing chargers. Now the road rounded a hill and beyond, Blake saw the towers and battlements of an ancient castle.

WHITE WILL FACE

White White, classed by the state as a "big shot" in the municipal graft racket of other days at the old city hall on Marietta and Forsyth, today is scheduled to sit in the defendant's chair in Fulton superior court while state prosecutors seek to send him to the chain gang to join his erstwhile partner, ex-Councilman Harry York.

White is on the calendar of Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy. Because Solicitor-General John A. Boykin will be engaged in the court of Judge John D. Humphries, it is expected that Assistant Solicitors Ed A. Stephens and J. Walter LeCraw will prosecute White. White already has been convicted of bribery and defrauding the city, and his appeals are pending.

York was tried and convicted of five of the counts in this indictment, and the conviction was sustained by the court of appeals, the sixth count having been abandoned by the state in the York trial. White will be defended by John I. Kelley, of Lawrenceville, and ex-Mayor Walter A. Sims.

With White's trial scheduled in Judge Pomeroy's court. Judge Humphries is slated to try Odus C. Hewell, city policeman, for the murder of Jake Minsk, Decatur street butcher. Hewell has been given one mistrial, and is to be tried today after Judge Humphries disposes of disbarment proceedings against Attorney John Payne. The Payne hearing began Monday and was adjourned for the day when the state rested after introducing a large number of witnesses to testify as to the conduct of the defendant.

AKRON, Ohio, March 23,—(F)—Paul F. Kassay, 37, a mechanic employed by the Goodyear Zeppelin Corporation, was indicted today on a charge of violating the state criminal syndicalism law by verbally justifying his alleged attempts to sabotage the giant navy airship Akron. Common Pleas Judge Lionel S. Pardee heard Kassay's not guilty plea and said he would set a date for trial Wednesday. Kassay was indicted by the Summit county grand jury. Judge Pardee fixed the bond in the case at $20,000, the same figure set at Kassay's police court arraignment. Mrs. Yetta Land, of Cleveland, attorney of Kassay, argued unsuccessfully for a reduction in the bond.

but it is with the gloves that Joe proposes to perfect himself in the manly art of self-defense.

Now that financial experts agree that hard times are over, "Professor" Cecil Widdifield and his associates in merrymaking risk a modern version of Old Mother Hubbard and the bare cupboard in their O'Cedar Time program over WGST and the Columbia network from 9:30 to 9:45 o'clock this morning. Assisting the professor in this bit of morning hilarity for the housewife are Benny Watson and Fred Von Ammon, exponents of accordion, kazoo and piano harmony.

of souvenirs Monday night.

Jeff was walking in the rear of him with a pistol and lodged a bullet in Jeff's abdomen.

At Grady hospital, doctors went to work on Jeff. In addition to the bullet in his stomach, they found four old bullets in his back. Jeff explained that the extra bullets he had never gone to the trouble of
